HHRD Child Care Home (CCH), Bangladesh

Why This Program Matters

HHRD Child Care Home is one of the year-round safe learning spaces inside the Rohingya refugee camps of Cox's Bazar. Every year, 320 children—many at risk of trafficking, early marriage, violence, and severe trauma—receive education, nutrition, protection, and psychosocial care. These children have survived genocide, displacement, and extreme poverty. HHRD Childcare Centers are their only place of safety, stability, and hope.

Since 2017, Helping Hand Relief and Development have supported 2005 students through this 1 Learning Center in Cox's Bazaar. The program ensures access to quality education for 320 students annually from Kindergarten to Level 7.

What HHRD Child Care Home Provides (Annually)

Support Area	Impact
Education	1,100+ learning sessions, 5 trained teachers, daily supervised learning
Nutrition	99,840 meals
Hygiene	1,920 hygiene kits, daily handwashing practice
Protection	365 days of safe space, trauma-informed care
Recreation	3,600 recreational kits, 600 extracurricular events
Community Reach	1,500 indirect beneficiaries

The Urgent Need

A long time donor has stepped back, leaving a sudden and painful gap in support. This gap threatens the very foundation of our Learning Center. Without immediate investment, the center will be forced to scale down — which means children may arrive hungry and find no meals waiting for them. It means girls who rely on this protective environment may be pushed back into the shadows where early marriage and trafficking are real dangers. It means children carrying deep trauma may lose access to psychosocial care that helps them sleep at night. It means families who trusted HHRD Learning Center as the one safe place for their children may suddenly have nowhere to turn

We are seeking a Major Donor Partner because these children cannot afford uncertainty. Their need is immediate, and their vulnerability is profound.

Cost of HHRD Learning Center

Total Annual Cost	$137,224

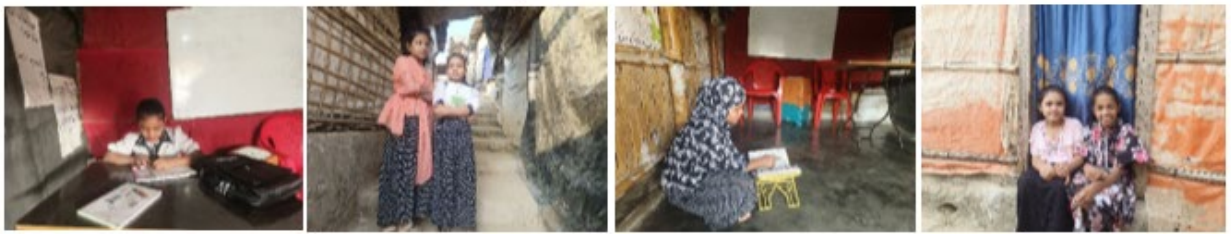

Stories of Hope

Muhammad Ismail's Story of Hope and Progress

Muhammad Ismail, a 10 year old Rohingya boy who fled Myanmar with his family after the 2017 violence, now finds hope at the HHRD CCH. With daily snacks, learning kits, hygiene support, and caring teachers, he has gone from struggling in math and English to excelling and helping his classmates. “My teachers believed in me... now I can solve problems easily,” he says proudly. “Thank you to the donors... your kindness gives me hope.”

Ateka's Journey of Resilience and Achievement

Ateka, a bright 10 year old Rohingya girl who fled Myanmar with her family after the 2017 violence, found renewed hope at HHRD CCH, she has regained confidence and stability. Once discouraged by multiplication and math, she now solves problems with ease and helps her classmates. “Multiplication was very hard, but my teachers encouraged me. Now I can solve problems easily and help my friends,” she says, smiling with pride.

> These stories are not rare. These are everyday upliftment's happening inside HHRD Learning Centers — a joy that must continue.

Your Partnership Matters

Just 1 major donor can ensure that HHRD remains a sanctuary for every child who depends on it. Your support will keep the doors open, the meals served, the classrooms alive, and the protection intact. It will allow children to heal, learn, and dream again. It will safeguard girls from exploitation and give boys the confidence to rebuild their futures.

> Most importantly, your partnership will protect 320 children from unimaginable harm inshaa'Allah!!

Thank you
